Who: Marcela Hernández, founder and Design Director of Colomba Living

When: Monday, August 17th. 6 PM.

Where: The Showroom. 7 West 34th Street, suite 839.

“The Artisan Today” is the spirit that Colomba Living brings to the Home Textile Market Week, taking place August 14th- 20th at the New York Showroom, 7 West 34th St. suite #839.

Marcela Hernández, founder and Design Director of Colomba Living, describes her line as a creative space where local artisans and global trends meet through her contemporary design.

Using natural and luxurious materials linen, wool-alpaca the Chilean designer has created a lifestyle series of products for the bedroom, bathroom and dining room, and a line of accessories and clothing that has a contemporary look and a handcrafted, eco- friendly feeling.

Her work shows an emphasis on the natural and the sustainable, looking to create beautiful, sophisticated, healthy products with simple, sleek design and eco- conscious materials.

“Globalization and the stress of modern life have created a new scenario where we must reconsider our lifestyle,” says Hernández. “We have an unprecedented amount of tools and information that helps our daily life, but that can also lead to saturation and confusion.”

Colomba Living’s philosophy, shared with other Chilean companies like Emiliana Vineyards- a partner during the Textile Market Week event-, seeks to create a successful, viable business model that is respectful of the environment and the work of local communities as well.

Creating partnerships with other eco- conscious brands and products, Colomba Living has created a lifestyle line for the United States, Europe and other exclusive markets that can benefit from its design and environmental practices.
